UNIFIED SOURCE-TO-PAY SOFTWARE

THE TIME IS NOW

New targets, new opportunities and higher expectations. Procurement is on the rise.

Today's enterprises need to be more productive, more in control, and with greater visibility than ever before. The best software can help.

GEP SMART™ is unique. The only completely unified source-to-pay platform, that's native to cloud, mobile and touch technologies, that drives success through amazing user experience and that's open by design for integration into your business.

Of course, you should expect procurement software to be smart. But this is different, this is GEP SMART.

"The product name, GEP SMART sums up its approach: using software to help customers' employees make better, faster buying decisions. GEP is a good option for large multinationals that want intelligent procurement software for both upstream and downstream, in a single, cost-effective solution." – Forrester Research
